A. C. EATON is in receipt of a letter from Chas. Hamilton, who, with a party, left in the spring with a train of 40 burros for Peace river, going via the Lac St. Ann trail. The letter was written on the 28th May, and the writer states they would be at the Big Smokey in ten days. They were getting on all right and very successfully.

T. McCLELLAN, who came in from his trading post at Little Red river, on the Athabasca, this week, states that before leaving his post 25 boats belonging to Klondike parties passed that point. On the way up, between McMurray and the Landing, he passed 150 more boats, including the larger steamers. Including the number of men on the steamers, the average number of persons on board each boat would be at least four, bringing up the total number of voyagers by the Athabasca-Mackenzie route to at least 700. The oil well at Pelican rapids was still smutting gas, but the strength of the flow was greatly diminished.

MESSRS. CHAS. H. and Wm. Parsons, of Cardiff, Wales, returned on Thursday last from the Peace river. They, together with a party, left here with horses and sleighs last March heading for the Pelly banks. The snow left the trail sooner than they expected, so they built a boat at Fort Assiniboine and started for Slave lake post by water. All went well until they reached Lesser Slave lake, where they had an exciting escape from destruction by a great mass of ice. It was dark when they saw the ice field and in the haze mistook it for a sand bar. They pulled out to round the outer end, but on getting nearer were startled to see a half circle of broken ice almost surrounding them. The great blocks were pitching and tossing on the waves, heaving and working in the throes of a great sea and rapidly closing in on their craft. Their boat was doomed if it was caught, and realizing this they pulled with desperate energy to get away, but the load they had hauled behind them and the ice closed in till they were forced to throw their outfit overboard and ultimately succeeded in reaching shore with nothing but a bag of flour and a piece of bacon—and the bacon was subsequently stolen by an Indian dog. For four days they subsisted on flour and fish, without salt, until they reached Slave lake post. Undaunted by their experiences they proceeded to Peace river crossing to purchase an outfit, but found it would be cheaper to return to Edmonton and re-fit there, which they did. Chas. H. Parsons brought back several splendid specimens of rubies which he found on the Athabasca river. The party intended to leave here for the north again in about a month's time.

JOHN McLEAN arrived in town to-day with a bear cub which he had captured at the Landing.

JACK FLYNN leaves to-day for the Landing with Geo. Russell who is bound for Fort Smith where he will join Nagle's trading party.

JOHN JOHNSON, an employee of J. McCauley, was painfully injured on Monday last. He was working with a long single handled road scraper, when by some means the machine dived itself, and the descending iron handle struck Johnson over the head. The blow, though making a scalp wound, did not fracture the skull, and the injured man is rapidly recovering.

The first inter-club bicycle races took place at the track last night. Two one mile matched races were on the bill, but one was called off. The other, between Norman Lander and H. Graham, was won by Lander. The two mile handicap race was won by A. McLeod, 1st; S. Durdle, 2nd; and Campbell, 3rd. The entries were Jardine, Lander, Campbell, McLeod and Durdle.

The following ministerial appointments for the Edmonton district have been made by the Methodist church which has just concluded its annual session in Winnipeg: Rev. Thompson Ferrier, Edmonton; Rev. W. B. Chegwinn, South Edmonton; Rev. E. J. Chegwinn, Lacombe; Rev. F. W. Lock, Red Deer; Rev. J. W. Dean, Sturgeon river; H. E. Gordon, Wetaskiwin; J. C. Hawley, Agria, and Beaver Creek; A. E. Galloway, Leduc and Clearwater; E. M. Latam, Victoria and Beaver Lake. Rev. Joshua Dyke, now of Edmonton, has been assigned to Birtle, Manitoba.

A MEETING of the directors and shareholders of the Edmonton District Railway Company was held in the council chamber on Tuesday afternoon last. The principal purpose of the meeting was to explain a few legal points in connection with the transfer of the charter. Although the charter has actually passed from the original shareholders, some technical formalities are yet to be complied with. Another meeting to finally settle the matter will be held on the arrival of Mr. Blair, representing the syndicate which now control the charter, who is expected in in a few days.

MESSRS. A. O. LORIN, S. Aligny, M. McDonald, Harding, N. Thierien, N. Bonhomme, and A. Leduc, M. D., members of the late Montreal party, Yukon bound, who were stranded here owing to the desertion of Hoguard, their leader, with the funds of the expedition, left this morning for Montreal. The members of the company have brought action against M. Bellingham of Montreal, who was one of the originators of the enterprise, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The case proceeded here for some time, but was adjourned to Montreal to be concluded there, the evidence of witnesses there being necessary. Three of the members of the expedition remained here.

PATTERSON'S BODY FOUND.

The body of W. Patterson, of Hamilton, who was drowned in the Grand rapids on the 31st of August last while on his way to the north with a party of Hamilton men, was found on the 5th of May last by two Indians, sons of Andrew Pishe.

Word of the discovery of the body was brought into town by T. McClellan, who arrived this week from his trading post at Little Red River, a tributary of the Athabasca, about 100 miles below the Grand rapids. The body was found on the river bank at Point Brule, 160 miles below the rapids where the accident occurred. It was lying perfectly nude near the waters edge and was terribly mutilated and disfigured, the head being crushed, both feet missing and the legs broken. The Indians attributed the mutilation to the spring ice jam. A rude grave was dug in the sand on the river's bank and the body buried by the Indians. On the way in, McClellan met the Hamilton party who were bound north and told them of the finding of the body. They were undecided when he left whether to unearth it to satisfy themselves as to its identity or not. There can be little doubt that the body was that of Patterson as he was the only man lost on the river last year.

HEIMINCK VS. TOWN.

A telegram was received yesterday notifying the parties interested that the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada in the case of Heimick vs. the town of Edmonton, had been decided in favor of the appellant. The town therefore loses. This case concerns that piece of land lying between Morris & Co's and Evans' store. Heimick claimed this land was a town lot and belonged to him, but the town disputed this ownership, claiming it was by virtue of continual use and by reservation in the patent, a roadway open to the public. Heimick fenced the land across, but the town had the fence torn down. Thereupon Heimick brought suit against the municipality to test the case and the trial came up here before Mr. Justice Scott. His lordship found that while he had no evidence to show that Mr. Heimick did not own the lot, he found that he was estopped from claiming it by reason of him (Heimick) acknowledging in a previous arbitration case that the land was a roadway and open to the town, and so gave judgment for the town, on the ground of this estoppel. From this decision Heimick appealed to the supreme court en banc, Regina, and they reversed Mr. Justice Scott's finding as to the estoppel, but found a number of other reasons why the property belonged to the town instead of to Heimick and again found in favor of the town and against the appellant. From this decision Mr.

Heimick again appealed and the case came up for hearing, for the third time, before the Supreme Court of Canada. Their decision has only now been given and as above mentioned they found in favor of the appellant, Heimick, thereby reversing the judgments of the two lower courts.

The result of the supreme court verdict is to vest the title of the property beyond question in P. Heimick, besides incidentally, letting the town in for the costs of the case, some $1,500.

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, June 7, '98.

Prorogation was expected on Thursday, but certainly will not be reached on that date and possibly not this week. The proposition to loan $2,000,000 to the Montreal harbor commissioners for improvement of the harbor brought on a long discussion. The question at issue is as to how the money is to be applied, and on this point the members of the government and their friends are not at one. As minister of public works in the government which is advancing the loan, Hon. Mr. Tarte claims the right to say according to what plan the money shall be expended. A large part of the business interests of Montreal declare for a different plan. Mr. Tarte alleges that the business men's plans are inadequate. They, through their mouthpiece, the good liberal Minister Wittem, declare that the minister's scheme is for private advantage and would be a misuse of the money loaned. There is no doubt that the present harbor facilities of Montreal are inadequate and that consequently the country is losing a large part of the export trade in its own grain, which finds the ocean at New York by way of the Erie canal. The country would no doubt be willing to loan the money needed to accommodate the trade, but people are somewhat confused by the views expressed of the rival schemes by their several partisans.

When the franchise bill went to the senate that body made an amendment to it providing for an appeal in the preparation of voters' lists to the county court judges in several of the provinces where such an appeal is not now allowed. This is the same amendment which was proposed in the commons by the leader of the opposition and was defeated on a party vote. An amendment made to any bill by the senate must be concurred in by the commons, before it can become law. If the commons refuses to concur the bill goes back to the senate and if that body refuses to withdraw its amendment the practical effect is to defeat the whole bill.

The question now is: What will the government ask the commons to do when the bill comes back from the senate with its amendment. The government having already taken a stand on this very point, it can scarcely ask its followers to reverse the vote they gave against the same amendment when proposed by the leader of the opposition. In other words the commons may be expected to concur in the senate's amendment. When the bill goes back again to the senate for consideration possibly the senate may say: "We have made our most solemn demand for the right of appeal. It has been refused by the government. On them be the responsibility. We will withdraw our amendment." In that case the bill will become law. It is more than likely, however, that having asserted the right of appeal they will refuse to withdraw from the position and will take the responsibility of indirectly defeating the whole bill rather than allow it to go through without appeal being provided for. They will no doubt be strengthened in this course by the fact that the lack of a right of appeal to a judge was the principal objection urged by the liberals against the old franchise act. They will doubtless claim that what was a valid objection to the old act is just as sound an objection to the new one. Then comes in the question of the plebiscite, the bill regarding which provides that the vote shall be taken under the franchise act of 1898. If there is no franchise act of '98 there can be no vote this year. The provision that the vote shall be taken under the franchise act of this year is justified on the ground that if it were to be taken under the present franchise act, either it would have to be on voters' lists four years old and therefore out of date and essentially unfair, or the country would be put to the expense of getting out new lists at a cost of about a million dollars, and with every opportunity allowed the interests having the most money behind it to manipulate the preparation of the new lists in their own favor, or practically to win the election before the polls were opened.

OTTAWA, June 8, '98.

On the item of $6,000 to pay cost of the Crow's Nest railway commission yesterday, J. Ross Robertson, (East Toronto) scored the C. P. R. unmercifully for their treatment of laborers on the C. N. P. construction works as shown by the report of the commissioners. While the company was ready to steal dollars from the treasury of the country the report showed that they were just as ready to steal the pennies of the working man. He did not hold Mr. Haney responsible. Haney was only carrying out his orders and the policy of the company which employed him.

He (Robertson) would not look for the criminals along the line of construction, but in the Windsor street station in Montreal, some day when the C. P. R. directors were in session. E. F. Clarke, (West Toronto) spoke along the same lines and asked for justice against the responsible parties whoever they might be. The premier said that the report of the commission would be dealt with as soon as the session was over. While some of the wrong done was beyond the possibility of repair, no effort would be spared to secure justice, as far as justice could now be done. A number of other members took part in the debate, the tone of which would lead to the conclusion that there are a few members of parliament who are not yet absolutely subservient to the C. P. R.

Further supplementary estimates for the coming financial year were brought down last night. They total $71,231, of which $48,500 is for increased railway station accommodation at Lewes, Quebec, $20,000 for expenses of the proposed joint high commission between Great Britain and the United States for the purpose of settling outstanding differences between the two countries in respect of Canada, and $2,731 for legislative expenses for the session including balance of indemnity of Sir A. P. Caron and Major Beattie, unable to attend on account of illness.

On the item of $6,000 additional for maintenance of insane patients of the Northwest in Manitoba asylum, the minister of interior intimated that the government was considering the advisability of providing accommodation for insane patients and also for deaf mutes—for whom there was now no provision—within the Territories, but had not yet reached a conclusion.

On the item for surveys the minister stated that some fifteen parties were being sent out in Manitoba and the Territories this year.

Regarding the probable course of the senate regarding the plebiscite bill, Sir Mackenzie Bowell stated yesterday in the senate that should the franchise bill be killed by non-concurrence of the commons in the senate's amendment, he would move that the plebiscite vote be taken on the provisional lists as they are. By this move he hopes to throw the full responsibility of the failure of the plebiscite, if such failure occurs, on the liberal government.

Prorogation may possibly be reached on Saturday, but it is doubtful.

OTTAWA, June 9, '98.

The chief feature of yesterday's proceedings was the debate on and passage of two resolutions relating to Manitoba. The first of these was to pay back to the fund held by the Dominion government on Manitoba debt account $267,000. When confederation took place the federal government assumed the outstanding debts of all the provinces. When the province of Manitoba was organized it of course had no debt, and to place it on equal footing with the other provinces whose debts had been assumed by the Dominion it was credited with a certain lump sum on which it received interest at five per cent. per year from the federal treasury as a part of its subsidy. The province had no parliament buildings or government house and had not the means to erect suitable structures. In 1884 the Dominion government arranged for the erection of the present parliament buildings and government house in Winnipeg, and charged the cost to the lump sum held to the credit of Manitoba on provincial debt account as above stated. That is, instead of paying interest on the full amount of this credit on provincial debt account, after the erection of the buildings they only paid interest on the amount less the cost of the buildings. The resolution was that hereafter interest should be paid on the full amount credited to the province on provincial debt account, and that the arrearages of interest should be paid, the total sum to date reaching the figure placed in the resolution.

The minister of finance based his argument in support of the resolution on the fact that at confederation the Dominion had assumed the provincial government buildings as they had assumed the provincial debts, but had afterwards handed back the government building to the provinces. That is, the Dominion government had actually provided the original provinces, with their public buildings, and having done so Manitoba was entitled to the same consideration. He read several extracts from Hansard and the statutes of the date of provision being made for the erection of the Manitoba provincial government buildings in support of his contention that that was the understanding of the government at the time, which was afterwards departed from by the cost being charged to the Manitoba debt fund. The resolution merely provided for restitution to the province of what properly belonged to it and of which it had been improperly deprived.

LaRiviere, conservative, M. P., for Provencher, Man., supported the contentions of the minister of finance. He was provincial treasurer of the province at the time, the buildings were erected. They were erected strictly as Dominion works without sanction of or consultation with the provincial authorities and they had no idea at the time that they were to be afterwards charged with the cost. He had always held that such charge was an injustice to the province.

Foster, Sproule, McLean and other conservatives took strong ground against the resolution as being a readjustment of the financial relations between one of the provinces and the Dominion and thereby opening the way for a readjustment all around, involving a further drain on the federal treasury.

The resolution passed without division.

The second resolution was to pay to the province of Manitoba out of moneys received from the sale of school lands in that province, $300,000. Two sections in each township in Manitoba and the Northwest are reserved from settlement to be ultimately sold to form a fund in aid of schools. The lands are sold from time to time by the department of interior and the capital amount is held in the treasury. Interest on this amount at five per cent. is paid to the local government for school purposes. The treasury now holds nearly half a million of dollars accruing from sales of school lands in Manitoba, and the purport of the resolution was to enable the government to pay over $300,000 of this amount to the province for school purposes. As money costs the government less than three per cent. and they are paying five per cent. to the province for the use of this money the federal treasury saves two per cent., yearly interest by making the capital payment.

The resolution was opposed strongly from the conservative side. Mr. LaRiviere held that the capital should not be handed over without an arrangement as to a proper distribution between Protestant and Catholic schools. Sometime the Manitoba minority might hope to have their rights recognized. When that day came the money which was supposed to have been held in trust for them would have ceased to be available if

A CORRECTION.

EDITOR BULLETIN.

I am directed by members of the reception committee to correct a slight error in your report of the proceedings of last Thursday evening's meeting.

It was expressly understood that the holiday was not to be the usual civic holiday, but a holiday to be named by his worship—the mayor, on a petition being presented him to that effect by the citizens, and which he stated he was most willing to grant.

The reason the committee draw your attention to the matter is, that some of the people are confusing the usual civic holiday with this one.

Yours faithfully,
F. FRASER TINS,
Secretary.

GUARDING AGAINST ACCIDENTS.

Our correspondent in the north writes: As there have been several slight accidents caused by the voyagers not knowing the exact distance and location of the rapids when nearing them and as the shore is of such a bad character that several boats have been stove in by getting in too swift water and then trying to make the shore, it was generally conceded that something should be done to warn travellers before they reached the rapids. Numerous suggestions were made, but nothing done until a day or two ago when Mr. Brooke, formerly of the N. W. M. P., and Mr. Vaudin, of the same party, decided to do the work themselves and do it they did, making a most satisfactory and praiseworthy job, by erecting a sign at a point above the rapids. After passing House river which runs in from the right hand side, about eight miles above the rapids, every man on board should be awake and attending strictly to business. Move along slowly and watch the right hand bank for a flag staff with a white canvas pennant underneath. This flag is a large sign board upon which Messrs. Brooke and Vaudin wrote full instructions as to approaching the rapids. The most important feature of the sign board is the direction on it to: "Stop here and walk down to the rapids proper and see for yourself. Make enquiries, and whatever you do not get it into your head that you can run them without close inspection for if you do you are likely to come to grief."

ANGUS RIDGE.

Mrs. R. Wyld leaves for Port Elgin, Ont., on Monday. Her friends here wish her a pleasant trip and safe return. The picnic at Shantz's Crossing, gotten up by the good people of the Battle river district and vicinity, was one of the events of the season. The weather was cool, which added greatly to the pleasure of the day. The committee, having consulted the Canadian almanac, made no error in selecting Friday p. m. 10th inst., as the date. Nearly all parts of Northern Alberta were represented. The programme began about 3 p. m. and the following were the victors in the contests: Pony race.—1, Roger Cherrington; 2, Otto Hallifer; 3, Vic Campbell. Ladies' party race.—1, Miss Griffin; 2, Miss Shantz. Boy's race, under 12.—1, Geo. Shantz; 2, Freddie Wilson. Boy's race, under 16.—1, Will Wilson; 2, Eddie Wilson; 3, Geo. Shantz. Three-legged race.—1, Nelles and Shantz; 2, Campbell and Shantz. Hep step and jump,

—1, Jim Gould; 2, Vic Campbell. Potato race.—1, Vic Campbell; 2, J. Thirk; 3, Peter Waterston. Egg race.—1, Miss Shantz; 2, Miss Griffin; 3, Mrs. Nelles. Throwing sledge.—1, J. Shantz. Putting the shot.—1, Josiah Shantz; 2, J. McKay. Relief race.—1, Nelles and Shantz; 2, Campbell and partner. At 5 p. m. a supper was given by the ladies to satisfy the wants of the inner-man, all doing justices to the viands prepared by the fair sex of this district, who understood the art of cooking so well. After supper an exciting race was held to give those who were absent during the programme a chance to see the speed of their ponies.—1, Smith; 2, R. Tidd; 3, S. T. id. The base ball game under the leadership of R. Waterston and Vic Campbell was enjoyed by all present. Score, Waterston, 12; Campbell, 8. June 11.
